The information in this table is the best information we could obtain from our members, from SEC filings, from PTPs' websites, and surveying members; however, we do not guarantee its accuracy, and it should be used only as a guide for further investigation. Companies may have commenced operations in additional states, or ceased operations in existing states, since this table was last updated. Income from PTP operations in a state may not be taxable to unitholders if, for example, operations are conducted through a corporate subsidiary. To be certain of the states of operation for any PTP and the extent to which unitholders are subject to tax in those states, contact its investor relations department.
